CEO James Schellhase
Explains Company
Vision in Q&A with Law360

UnitedLex is as committed as ever to helping clients innovate, weaponize their data, and drive organizational value through their legal departments, but a lot has changed since James Schellhase joined as CEO in the fall of 2023. He recently sat down for an extended interview with Law360's Sarah Martinson. The Q&A, published June 17, covered his vision for building a culture that strengthens relationships, how he views his role, and the importance of keeping a balance between customers, employees and the board.
